LESSON PLAN

Age:

Children 2 to 110!!

Objective:

Children will learn the alphabet in sign language and use this tool to broaden their communication skills with others.

Materials:

The Life and Times of Lilly the Lash: The Garden Gathering by Julie Woik
Sunny Signs Poster - Print 9 Letter Size pages or you can buy the board game poster for $10.00 on Lilly's website www.lillythelash.com

Print Petals - 6 pages of petals containing the alphabet and hand signs

Clear Tape or Tacking - After learning the letter and sign, place the petal (starting with A at the top) on the poster by putting tape (rolling the sticky side out) or Blu-Tack adhesive on the back.

Activity:

Read The Garden Gathering to the participating children. After the reading, have a discussion about differences. Share examples of how we're different. Bring to light those who suffer with hearing loss. Explain the importance and significance of sign language to someone with hearing issues. Describe how sign language allows for communication between those with and without hearing loss. This game is about learning the alphabet in sign language. Start with the letter A, and work your way to Z. When the sign is learned, place the petal on Sunny. As the alphabet is learned, practice spelling/signing words to one another. Let's make a "difference"!!

Learn the Letter... Show the Sign... Place the Petal!

Assessment:

Children will recognize how communication through sign language helps to close the gap between the hearing and hearing impaired communities. They'll embrace this form of communication, and use it appropriately.
